

nu barkada

sari sari • spring 19

presidents' greeting

Mabuhay Barkada,

We are so excited to start 2019 with all of you!

Returning members, welcome back! We hope you're looking forward to the upcoming semester as much as we are. We have some classic events in store, like Benefit Concert and Bahay Kubo, as well as a fantastic new event we hope to kick off this year. Thank you for all you have done for and with Barkada since you've joined, this family could not exist without you!

Newbies, we are so glad you are here and we want to extend the warmest of welcomes to you! This club can seem overwhelming at times, with so many new faces and so many new things to experience. We hope you stick around and step out of your comfort zone—soak everything in. We can assure you that you will be met with unforgettable experiences, memories, and bonds that will last a lifetime—because this is more than a club, it's a family.

To our E-Board, thank you for all the hard work you put last semester that made our events so successful and that brought this family closer together. We are so proud of what we were able to accomplish, and we are looking forward to everything that the new semester will bring.

Finally, to our seniors—whether you first joined Barkada your freshman year or whether you first joined this past fall, we appreciate each and every one of you. Thank you for everything you have given us; your lessons, your laughs, your tears, your passion, and your love. Though this is your last semester and you may or may not be all too familiar with what the spring semester brings, we encourage you to experience everything all over again. You have left an indelible mark on this family, and we hope we can make your last semester with us something special.

Freshman or senior, newbie or oldie, Filipino or not, Barkada is always here for you.

PCE. LVE. BKD.

Your CoPs (Co-Presidents),
Martin and Amanda

what is barkada?

In 1998, NU Barkada became the first and only Filipino student organization at Northeastern University. The club is dedicated to celebrating the vibrance of Filipino heritage through community engagement in cultural, educational, and social activities. The group strives to do so by performing traditional dances and songs, cooking national foods, and educating others on the roots of Filipino heritage.

In Tagalog, “barkada” means “group of friends,” but to our members, Barkada means more than that. Barkada does not only express Filipino culture through its various events; it exhibits Filipino values such as hospitality, respect, resilience, compassion, and dedication through its members. Barkada fosters strong friendships through our BIGGIEsmalls program and family dinners, while motivating students to prioritize education through Barkademics. The organization provides its members with various outlets of self-expression through singing, dancing, leadership opportunities, and much more.

Through our collaboration with Northeastern’s Pan Asian American Council (PAAC) and District One (D1) in the Filipino Intercollegiate Networking Dialogue (FIND), Barkada is able to promote diversity, fellowship, and Filipino culture within our own campus as well as the greater Boston community. Together, we organize several events and gatherings throughout the year to strengthen our network and bond with each other.

Barkada welcomes anyone and everyone with open arms, regardless of background, and embraces each person’s individuality and uniqueness.

My Barkada is My group of friends.
And My Barkada is Your Barkada, so welcome to the family!

Your VP,
Sheena

what is a “sari sari”?

In the Philippines, a “sari-sari,” refers to convenience stores that are found in neighborhoods and streets. These family-owned shops play integral roles in small communities and towns in the Philippines. While the direct Tagalog translation of “sari-sari” means “variety” or “miscellaneous,” to Barkada it holds a completely different meaning.

The Sari-Sari refers to our bi-annual print newsletter, showcasing what Barkada has to offer in the beginning of each semester. In the Sari-Sari you will be able to find a variety of people, articles, and photos all about Barkada.

You'll get to meet our Executive Board, the leading people behind our club. Learn more about District One and the Pan Asian American Council, two larger organizations that Barkada is a part of. Want to learn more about BIGGIEsmalls? Not the Notorious B.I.G., but Barkada's own mentor/mentee program. Get a taste of some of our new, old and even OLDER members that are a part of Barkada and its history.

We'd like to give a warm welcome to our new members that will be joining us this semester and hope that our family has everything to offer to you. We'd also like to welcome back our returning members from winter vacation. On behalf of the Barkada EBoard, we are excited to announce what plans and events we have in store for this year.

A final thank you to all who contributed to the Sari-Sari! To the EBoard for their articles, the general members for their beautiful faces, and the alumni for taking their time to partake some wise words. Maraming Salamat and we hope you enjoy!

Love your PRs,
Ralph and Yuuki

fall semester recap

Wow! As we write this, Max is playing smash and I am eating his popcorn! Last semester was filled with a lot of fun things! We started off in September with our welcome week events, Husky Global Fair, a celebration of culture with other Northeastern cultural organizations, and Light the Night, our evening of fun and dancing with the Asian Student Union. Pretty soon, we had our first potluck GM, met lovely new people who joined our Barkada, and running around the Museum of Science during our scavenger hunt with SASE.

We celebrated Filipino American History Month in October with a GM with PEAR, and we played games, danced, ate delicious food, and battled for the title of Barriokada Royalty during Barriokada Fiesta. In November, some families birthed some new additions (hi smols!), during our BIGGIEsmalls reveal, and we prepared for our dance shows in December! Finally, our hard work during our dance practices paid off! Northeastern hosted a great Kamayan showcasing us and our D1 friends dancing both modern and traditional Filipino dances (we put on an amazing Tinikling set!!!). The very next day, we danced for charity at UTSAV's Dance4me.

This semester has been an amazing time, from yelling at our kahoot where we learned Filipino languages, to yelling at each other during a Filipino creature themed mafia game, to yelling at Daniel Padilla in She's Dating a Gangster, to yelling at the stage while our friends danced. Then, during the end of the year potluck, we were yelling and laughing through our secret santa and white elephant exchange, until we all had to leave for winter break. But don't worry! We are back and ready for another great semester! We can't wait to meet even more new faces and laugh and yell our way through more amazing memories!

Your media specialist and historian,
Maxwell and Abby

“Bahay Kubo 2016 sure was fun right guys” - Max Abisia

meet the eboard

martin narciso & amanda escaba co-presidents

major criminal justice

year of graduation 2019

hometown wayland, ma

favorite filipino celebrity matteo guidicelli (he's a cool dude and a family friend!)

boba order mango green tea (25% sugar, less ice)

alumni shoutout jordan hollingshead (come back!)

new year's resolution
meditate everyday and spend more time with friends and family

major computer science & design

year of graduation 2020

hometown montgomery, ny

favorite filipino celebrity bruno mars

boba order oolong milk tea (less sugar, less ice)

alumni shoutout lil' alexis!
prezzie for my first year on e-board, she's not only a great person and role model, but she does appreciate my puns. sometimes.

new year's resolution
read books and make art as much as i used to in high school

sheena santos
vice president

major health science

year of graduation 2021

hometown bogota, nj

favorite filipino celebrity
sarah geronimo

boba order grapefruit yogurt with lychee jelly

alumni shoutout shoutout to my biggie, mark macrae. you're doing great things! miss ya so much!

new year's resolution to live a happier, healthier lifestyle and developing my relationships with others

meet the eboard

mark choa
treasurer

major business (finance & accounting)

year of graduation 2022

hometown san marino, ca

favorite filipino celebrity manny pacquiao

boba order brown sugar oolong tea with milk foam & white boba (70% sugar, less ice)

alumni shoutout my pseuds sophy chen #bigballer

new year's resolution start working out again #gainz2k19

mia narciso
secretary

major english (minors in east asian studies & japanese)

year of graduation 2021

hometown wayland, ma

favorite filipino celebrity bretman rock boba order black milk tea (less sugar, less ice) alumni shoutout jordan hollingshead, even if you definitely won't see this new year's resolution to write more letters and postcards!

meet the eboard

ralph dela cruz
external public relations

major computer science & design

year of graduation 2022

hometown new milford, nj

favorite filipino celebrity ralph dela cruz boba order whatever i'm feeling that day

alumni shoutout jen hayashi

new year's resolution love myself

yuuki nishida
internal public relations

major journalism

year of graduation 2022

hometown saipan, northern mariana islands

favorite filipino celebrity dante basco boba order brown sugar milk tea alumni shoutout creighton nakamura

new year's resolution i want to read and write more!

meet the eboard

michael chichioco & meryl franco co-performance coordinators

major biochemistry

year of graduation 2020

hometown san mateo, ca

favorite filipino celebrity manny pacquiao

boba order coconut milk tea alumni shoutout hi sophy :D

new year's resolution n/a major biology

year of graduation 2021

hometown pasadena, ca

favorite filipino celebrity catriona gray (miss universe 2018)

boba order passionfruit green tea with lychee alumni shoutout kyle tengco

new year's resolution read more books!

meet the eboard

maxwell abisia
media specialist

major computer science & design

year of graduation 2022

hometown newark, ca

favorite filipino celebrity jo koy

boba order mango green tea (half sugar, half ice) alumni shoutout sophy chen!

new year's resolution make more memes

abby mungcal
historian

major chemistry

year of graduation 2021

hometown lockport, illinois

favorite filipino celebrity manny jacinto boba order taro slush!

alumni shoutout mel del i love you!

new year's resolution youtube channel wow i love film

meet the eboard

jaana tabalon & katie mccolgan freshman representatives

major computer science & information science

year of graduation 2023

hometown dover, delaware

favorite filipino celebrity lea salonga

boba order oolong milk tea with pudding (less ice) alumni shoutout idk any alumni :(( new year's resolution better self-care!! both mentally and physically :)

major undeclared

year of graduation 2022

hometown abu dhabi, uae

favorite filipino celebrity lea salonga

boba order taro milk tea alumni shoutout shoutout to the alumni of official bread fam i met briefly this past semester: sophy and janine! hope i do the fam proud!

new year's resolution start learning some tagalog, also run run run!

meet the general members

francesca obordo

major industrial engineering
year of graduation 2019
would love to visit the philippines favorite barkada moment everytime we do "game time" :)

major bioengineering
year of graduation 2019
would love to visit the philippines
favorite barkada moment meeting my besttt friends!

allan wong

meet the general members

matt calapatia

major cell & molecular biology
year of graduation 2021
would love to visit iceland
favorite barkada moment
definitely bahay kubo!
just seeing all of the effort and hard work pay off on the big stage is such a rewarding thing. also it's the one day that we can really show off our culture and how much we just love being a part of this family. bk day is one of my favorite days in the entire year because of all the good vibes, love, and fun that we can all just have as a barkada!

adrian pastolero

major biochemistry
year of graduation 2022
would love to visit spain
favorite barkada moment
biggiesmalls reveal was very exciting to finally be in a barkada family, lowkey almost died on top of the wobbling table trying to grab my picture from the overhead projector tho haha

#allegiancereps

maya cakanindin

major marketing & design
year of graduation 2023
would love to visit france
favorite barkada moment
singing high school musical while waiting to perform at kamayan what's paac?

The Northeastern Pan-Asian American Council, or PAAC, is an umbrella organization comprising of 11 Asian American clubs. The members include: Asian Student Union, NU Barkada, Beta Chi Theta Fraternity, Chinese Student Association, Delta Phi Omega Sorority, Kappa Phi Lambda Sorority, Korean American Student Association, Pi Delta Psi Fraternity, Society for Asian Scientists and Engineers, UTSAV, and the Vietnamese Student Association.

Founded on the need for a common space for dialogue among Asian Pacific Islander Desi American (APIDA) students, PAAC was formed in 2005. The council serves as a community that binds the 11 organizations encouraging collaboration and companionship amongst members.

The Pan Asian American Council is upheld by its three pillars developed in 2016: Self Knowledge, Community Awareness, and Intentional Allyship. PAAC seeks to provide opportunities for students to develop knowledge of their own histories and identities, while creating awareness of what it means to be APIDA at Northeastern. With its 11 organizations, PAAC seeks to build thoughtful connections regarding experiences and struggles, not just within the Northeastern community, but with other marginalized populations.

PAAC strives to be responsive to the community's needs. PAAC recognizes the importance of building a community by listening to and learning from each of its organizations. We hope that you come to not only Barkada's events, but to the other ten organizations' events as well.

Your PAAC Representative,
Yuuki Nishida

what's d1?

Boston is home to many different colleges and universities other than Northeastern University. As result, there are many other collegiate Filipino organization in the city. Boston University, Boston College, UMass Boston, UMass Lowell, Wellesley College, Brown University, Simmons University and Harvard all have their own Filipino clubs and (Barkada included) are all connected through the umbrella organization called the Filipi- no Intercollegiate Networking Dialogue or FIND Inc. FIND consists of 8 district the span the length of the east coast starting at District 1 in Boston to District 8 in Florida. FIND's mission statement is to "promote unity and cooperation of Filipino students at colleges, universities, vocational, and technical schools, or any other institutions of higher education."

As stated NUBarkada is part of D1 and throughout the year there are several events hosted by one of the many other schools in the same district. One major event that Barkada goes every fall is Kamayan which is a culture show in which every school in D1 perform songs as well as modern and traditional Filipino dances. In the spring time, D1 hosts Sosyal which is a semiformal dance that is open to everyone in the district. These are all great networking events to go to whether it is to get better, professional connections or simply to make new friends around Boston. My duty as external PR is to act as Barkada's ambassador to the other D1 schools and connect our members to the greater Boston community.

D1 is just one of the districts of FIND. Be on the lookout for news of the FIND Inc. Conference happening this spring semester!

Your External PR,
Ralph

all things dance

We cannot believe how quickly the fall semester went by! Thank you so much to all of you, our dancers, and our choreographers. The fall 2018 set for Kamayan and Dance 4 Me would not have been possible without you guys and your PCs are extremely grateful for your hard work, dedication, and passion. You came to every dance practice with an open mind and a smile, which is all we could ever ask for. We hope you enjoyed dancing with us in the fall and we encourage you to return for spring! For new members, you are welcome to join Barkada dance - no prior experience necessary!

This spring we will not only be putting together a modern set, but a traditional one as well! We are so excited to work with our choreographers to bring you five modern pieces, encompassing traditional elements, and five traditional pieces. There are many traditional Philippine dances and our favorite ones to perform are tinikling, maglalatik, and ballroom. Tinikling is a folk dance that involves two people jumping between two bamboo sticks that are being clapped by two other dancers. Maglalatik consists of dancers hitting eight coconut shell halves, which are attached to their bodies; maglalatik is a very fun, rhythmic and upbeat dance! Ballroom encompasses a variety of styles consisting of partner dances. This semester we will also be performing pangalay and sakuting. Pangalay is a traditional “fingernail” dance where performers wear metallic fingernail extensions. Sakuting is another Philippine folk dance that interprets the fight between Ilocano Christians and non-Christians and sticks are utilized throughout the dance.

You may be in as many modern and traditional dances as you would like! We can't wait to see you at dance practices! Happy spring semester!

Your PCs, Meryl & Michael

bahay kubo

Bahay Kubo, an important cultural icon within Filipino culture, refers to a simple, lightweight and single roomed hut that a family can call home. The home remains open to all guests at all times and provides a small space for families and friends to come together in unity.

The Bahay Kubo symbolizes family, hospitality and camaraderie, all important characteristics of Filipino culture.

In addition to this, Bahay Kubo is also Barkada's annual culture show, featuring a skit, 5 traditional dances and a modern set, all written, choreographed and performed by members of Barkada! We also invite Iskwelahang Pilipino and musicians to perform at Bahay Kubo!

This year, Bahay Kubo will take place on the evening of Saturday, March 16th, save the date! Bahay Kubo 2019 is a special one as we are celebrating the 10th anniversary of the show! So with that said, come watch some stellar performances and celebrate Filipino culture with Barkada!

See you in March!

Your PCs,
Meryl and Michael

biggiesmalls

In its simplest form, BIGGIEsmalls is Barkada's mentoring program. The process is more or less the same every year: your E-Board will try to pair you with a BIGGIE or a smalls, in hopes that it will foster meaningful relationship, based on a questionnaire and the BIGGIEsmalls mixers that will be held later in the semester. Ideally, your BIGGIE helps you with adjusting to campus life, answering questions about classes, co-op and the like.

But to me, and to many others I'm sure, BIGGIEsmalls is more than that. Barkada has always been about having a strong sense of community and BIGGIEsmalls is just another aspect of that. In this coming Spring semester, I'm reminded of BIGGIEsmalls more so than ever because the N.U.in students return to Boston. When I was a freshman, I was also an N.U.in kid and integrating into a campus that had already found its rhythm was difficult. Everyone knew how the school worked, where buildings were, how to work basic things like the printers.

Having not only Barkada, but also my Barkada family, helped me feel more at home and settle in smoothly. When you join a Barkada family, you are welcomed into a whole new network of people who will have your back through thick and thin. They hopefully become the people you share the big moments with, like Bahay Kubo, and the little ones too - like simply studying together, grabbing a bite to eat between classes, sharing a laugh with during water breaks at dance. You learn a lot, both from your BIGGIE and your smalls, and you grow together, acting as each other's motivators and inspirations.

I'd like to think that every semester, BIGGIEsmalls is unique in its own way; not only do we welcome new members, we also grow and change in our own beautiful ways. Each semester, everyone brings something new to the table and it's always exciting to see that - I can't wait to see what this one has in store.

Your Secretary,
Mia

meet the newbies

My full name is Sovanneary Hok, but I tend to go by 'Neary'.

There are so many places that are on my "to-visit" list; but if I had to pick, it would be Weimar, Germany. I took a history class in high school with one of the units being the rise and fall of democratic states, focusing on several case studies in the 20th century. One of these studies was on the Weimar Republic which was, in the 1920s, the most socially and politically progressive democratic nation until its fall in the 1930s. For this reason, I have been wanting to go see the city since.

Not being Filipino, I actually joined Barkada at the beginning of the Fall semester without the initial intention of doing. Hannah (Yuuki's smols), who I got to know in my Psychology course, had invited me to a boba social that was hosted by BKD. Usually, people are inclined to sticking with people that they know unless they don't know anybody because it is scary getting to know new people. Due to this fear, I was expecting to go to the social with the people I knew and come out of it not knowing anyone new. But the very opposite happened! People immediately introduced themselves without barriers and I had actually gotten separated from those I went with a few times throughout the evening. This truly welcoming environment did not dissipate over time and which is why Barkada was the only cultural club that I had wholly committed to last semester.

Being apart of Barkada, there were many big highlights that I immediately think of when I think of the events last semester. These things involved getting a Biggie (I love you Abby) and adopted into DC fam, the countless fam dins, attending Kamayan and Dance4Me, etc. But my favorite moments were ones that weren't necessarily on a larger scale. Some of these moments were making dumplings with DC fam, studying in the presence of Abby, walking to Prudential Center and getting dinner with the Freshman class, getting when older members would talk to me at events without an obligation to do so, and more. So for giving me a source of lasting relationships, especially in a place like college where introductions become repetitive and conversations turn into small talk, thank you Barkada.

meet the oldies

Name: Alice Ding

Year: 5th

Major: Computer Science & Marketing

Fun Fact: I've only been active in Barkada for one semester! (It's never too late.)

What is one quote you live by and why? "It is important to draw wisdom from different places. If you take it from only one place it become rigid and stale." - Uncle Iroh, ATLA

I think it's super important to be open-minded, whether that be in a classroom or professional setting or anywhere else. Don't just take things as they are, learn from others and make your own judgements based on that.

Any wisdom to share from your college experiences?:

- There's an app called 'Feedshare' that sends notifications if there's free food on campus
- The best time to go to the gym is super early, super late, or around lunch time
- You can use meal swipes at dining halls, Cafe Crossing, Rebecca's, Outtakes, The West End (Curry) and can use 3 at once for the ones that aren't dining hall
- You can rent laptops from the library, free for one day
- You can sign up to 5 people into apartment style housing from Monday to Thursday
- You can use Husky Dollars at Star Market (Prudential)

What's one piece of advice you would give your freshman year-self? Definitely be more outgoing and more willing to try new things. I wish I had done more my freshman year, whether that be trying harder in school (my worst semester was during my first year) or doing more extracurriculars. Enjoy your time in college! I was so uninvolved back then and I feel like I didn't really grow since I spent so much time stuck in a routine. Join clubs! Talk to more people! Put yourself out there! College is short and you definitely will never get an opportunity like this to meet so many awesome people again :)

meet the oldies

Name: Jenny Cheung

Year: Fifth year

Major: Computer Engineering and Engineering Management

Fun Fact: I almost fell off the Great Wall of China.

What is one quote you live by and why? I really believe in "Work hard, play harder". It may sound cliche, but honestly, I realize that all of life should not be work. What's the point of working so hard if I don't get to enjoy the fruits of my labor? We all deserve a break every once in a while, so don't feel guilty about taking a break when you need it!

Any wisdom to share from your college experiences? College moves so fast and will be one of the most defining experiences of your life. This is the time to figure out who you are, and it is your journey, not anyone else's. You are responsible and accountable for the outcomes of your experiences. So go and do that new thing, get out of your comfort zone, take advantage of all the resources available to you as a college student because once you graduate, you will realize how many things you took for granted. Remember to not take it too seriously, have fun with it!

What's one piece of advice you would give your freshman year-self? Everything will be alright, you will make mistakes, don't dwell on them but learn from them. You may think that missing this one deadline or getting a bad grade would mean the end of it all but when you look back, it was only such a small part of your journey. Take things one at a time. Take your time but don't waste your time. There is a difference.

meet the oldies

Name: Connor Jew
Year: 5th Year
Major: Marketing and Management Information Systems (MIS)

Fun Fact: My favorite movie is Mamma Mia!

What is one quote you live by and why? "Success is liking yourself, liking what you do, and liking how you do it" -Maya Angelou

Any wisdom to share from your college experiences? Take every chance you can. If you don't see any opportunities, create one yourself.

What's one piece of advice you would give your freshman year-self? Things will always work out; just breathe and take in the moment. College goes by way too quickly.

Name: Kiley Hebert

Year: 4th

Major: Marketing

Fun Fact: I am a very heavy sleeper. Good luck trying to wake me up!

What is one quote you live by and why?

"The game ain't always fair and that's the thing though" - Drake
Okay he was talking about love in the context of the song, but accepting failure has been an important part of my personal growth and has continued to motivate me to embrace change and spontaneity.

Any wisdom to share from your college experiences?

Google Calendar is a really effective way to manage your time and figure out how to balance classes/co-op, student org activities, time with friends and family, "me" time, etc. USE IT AND LOVE IT!!!

Learn the tunnel system! As a NJ/NYC area native, I find that many people walk soooo slowly around campus. Cut through foot traffic and get to where you need to be fast!

What's one piece of advice you would give your freshman year-self?

Eat at the Curry Student Center Taco Bell - It was replaced after my 2nd year... I've never had it before :(

barkada on co-op

Name: Eric Makapugay

Major: Music Industry

Minor: Music Recording and Biology

Coop Experience: I had my coop at a large veterinary hospital called MSPCA Angell Animal Medical Center in Jamaican Plain (pretty close to Northeastern). I worked there in clinic primarily with dogs and cats as a veterinary technician, which is essentially like a nurse for animals. Most of my work involved giving medical treatment to animals for scheduled appointments and emergencies and restraining animals for obtaining blood/tissue samples. Along with that, I also communicated with clients, admitted patients, assisted veterinarians in daily tasks, and much more. I'd say being on coop was definitely a hard balance with friends who were in classes especially because of my work schedule. My shifts were from 6:15am-2:45pm, and I had to work every other weekend. I did get every Wednesday off to compensate for that, but working in the medical field is always tough. You have to work holidays like I did on Thanksgiving and most of your friends don't have a schedule like this. Although the coop wasn't easy, this experience was so rewarding and important in helping me figure out my future and made me realize being a veterinarian wasn't for me. I just switched my major to music which has always been my main passion, and don't worry... your boy is still a big big lover for animals :))

barkada on co-op

Name: Isabelle Carrillo

Major: Linguistics

Minor: ASL

I worked at the Center for Research and Training (CRT) at The Learning Center for the Deaf. CRT specifically worked to support a culturally and linguistically accessible education for students that are deaf and hard of hearing. All of the projects I worked on revolved around making STEM more accessible for deaf and hard of hearing students. The main project I worked on was a website aslclear.org, an online American Sign Language STEM Concept Learning Resource that focused on a bilingual learning model in the way that the concepts were presented in both American Sign Language and English. I really enjoyed my experience and it was super cool to work with a team that was super passionate about their work.

barkalumni

Melissa de Leon
Graduated May 2018

Still in Boston living in Fenway with former BKD prezies Charlie Outlaw & Alexis Bagon! I just started a Masters in Social Work at Simmons University. I take class and intern at a nursing home in South Boston and I'm loving it!! I miss having all my BKD homies in a 0.25 mile radius from my apartment LOL. I also miss Barkada potlucks and dancing!

Here are some pics of me from BKD. Abby has recent pics of me and DC fam from kamayan!

